Heather,

I expect that we should try and contact the physician at [REDACTED] to see if they have any contact information.. 98 is a long time ago but at least we can do that last contact before we decide what else that we have to do..

For [REDACTED]. We do now know that she has had contact in the province in 2006..with possibly a listing of next of kin.. Do you have the next of kin contact information, if so can you share it with Tina to see if they are aware of the person listed and they might be able to put something together.. I am sure that someone in the area must know where this lady and or her family are.. I would suggest that we talk to Dan Simmons on this as to next steps.. We are not seeking to break confidence we are only looking to locate the individual.. so that maybe a different story. I expect if we asked our security person Gary Barnes that he would be able to get a lead on contact information but I don't want to go their yet..

Hi,

I just wanted direction on how far you think I should go with patient contact. These are the only two patients I'm having difficulty with (other than the one that is out of town until the end of November)

[REDACTED]

Nov 2, 2007

Phone number in St. John's Meditech – not in service. Last visit here was August 2002
 Contacted Health Records, Clarenville. They have 2 numbers on file for her:

- [REDACTED] – not in service
- [REDACTED] – cell phone (current owner answered and does not know [REDACTED])

Nov 7, 2007 Google search identified a [REDACTED] brochure from Sept 2006 listing a [REDACTED] with the same number.

Nov 8, 2007 Contacted [REDACTED] She did not identify any further information, but did have the family physician identified as [REDACTED] The College website gave his [REDACTED]

Nov 9, 2007 Dr. [REDACTED] office stated she had moved [REDACTED] They did have a listing for a next of kin.

So, do I contact the next-of-kin? They are not dead and contacting the next-of-kin is technically a breach of confidentiality. We have no results for her yet.

[REDACTED]
Nov 2, 2007 St. John's Meditech information gives contact as [REDACTED] [REDACTED] This is currently the number for a private company

No next of kin are listed.

Health Labrador was contacted and their info is that she moved to [REDACTED] in August 1998. She was last seen in ER in February 1999 (but may have been visiting)

No listing in local phone book.

They did have a reference to a surgeon in [REDACTED] who saw here in 1998: [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Google did not reveal any contact information

Again, do I, or Health Records, contact [REDACTED] to see if they have any contact information? We now have results for her and she is confirmed negative. I don't know where the [REDACTED] information came from as I did not come across that.
