Medicine is not an exact science.
 Errors are made all the time. But what is most galling is when errors of the magnitude revealed on Friday must be discovered by the MEDIA, rather than through the Executive of Eastern Health.
 Clearly the Executive Leadership of Eastern Health keep their communications professionals as much in the dark as their patients. There is no commitment to transparency, and full and immediate disclosure.
 As such, reporters will have to keep searching the court dockets to find out what Eastern Health is up to.
 Lets hope a full inquiry brings these facts to light.
