I also prefer the first option. The question you ask is very interesting. I would consider that we use the same line we always do....you know which one that is, or we could talk to the Cancer Centre to have them take over this time. Once we make that decision, the question of who actually sits down with them is one Oscar is still working on! Pat

Hi,

Thank you for the responses so far but don't forget to consider options as to who is going to sign this letter and who is going to talk to the patients whose oncologist no longer is practicing here.....

Thanks

Heather
