Just to update you on this situation, Dr. Siddiqui contacted this individual, and she had been informed of her ER PR status and treatment options were discussed with her. She was unable to take Tamoxifen because of a pre-existing medical condition. Dr. Siddiqui has dictated a note in her medical record.

Thanks
Sharon

Update:

Dr. [REDACTED] tried to call me about this....when I called him back several times his mailbox was full....

Michele know tells me he's on holidays and the chart is on Dr. Siddiqui's desk for Monday am

Hi,

Last week I got a call from the VP of Quality at Western who was following up on one of their clients with regards to ER/PR. They were looking to see if we sent out a letter on a [REDACTED] which we. We did, and I was able to tell them that the letter was sent to the GP and copied to Dr. Siddiqui and the Cancer Clinic peripheral clinic.

Today, Joyce from the Cancer Clinic called. Dr. Jenkins from Western was following up and wanted this checked as he thought this lady may have fallen through the cracks. The lady moves between here and [REDACTED]. Apparently her GP got the letter and sent it to Dr. Siddiqui. Dr. Siddiqui sent it to the peripheral clinic with an order to book an appointment. That order was not taken off and the chart was filed away.

Joyce was having difficulty getting direction on what to do with the information or leave it until Monday, the covering physician seemed to me to be a good option so I asked her to get in touch with him (Dr. [REDACTED]) and get another order to contact the lady and get her in to the clinic.

Hope that's ok
