

DRAFT

May 18, 2007

[REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for contacting me about the impact on your family of serious errors in breast cancer testing over the past several years. It grieves me to know that you and your wife, [REDACTED] were affected by this. I am so sorry that, after facing the tragic loss of your wife, you must also deal with this.

I am determined to get to the bottom of what went wrong here so that I, and everyone, can have a clear picture of how the testing failed and how the issue was handled by the health care system. I agree with you that there are serious questions that we need answered. Getting to the bottom of this is the only way to restore people's confidence, so you have my word that we will find out. And once we find out what went wrong, I intend to see that steps are taken to reduce the prospects of something like this happening again.

Yours sincerely,

DANNY WILLIAMS, Q.C.